

TO DOUBLE TRACK THE PEORIA BRANCH

NORTHWESTERN PLANS FOR DOUBLE TRACKS FROM STER-LING TO ST. LOUIS

COMPANY PUTS MEN ON JOB

Extension of 117 Miles of New Road Complete In August 1913
Heavy Traffic Soon

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 19.—Special to the Telegraph—Plans are now under way by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company to build double tracks on the new right-of-way that is being constructed from Peoria, to McCoupin county, a distance of 117 miles, and later from Peoria north to Sterling, giving a double track service to the main line which runs to the northwest.

While the announcement of the double track system has not been officially made, it is stated on good authority that as soon as the single track has been completed, the second will be laid on the roadbed.

Double Track Piers

The company has all along figured on a double track is evidenced from the construction of the roadbed. All the piers for the new work are wide enough to carry a bridge large enough for two tracks. It has been the intention of the railway company to install a two-track system on the new branch at some future date. It was not thought, however, that the new track would come so soon after the completion of the single track that is now going laid.

The new railway branch is being pushed with the greatest rapidity. Three shifts of men are now on the job and work is being rushed during the entire twenty-four hours of each day. The new piers for the bridge across the Illinois river at Pekin are completed, all the concrete work for other bridges and viaducts is finished and the work of laying the steel will now begin.

Complete Next Year.

While the contract calls for the branch to be ready for use by October 1, 1913, officials of the road superintending the work are of the belief that it will be finished by August first.

The piece of roadway that is now being built by the big Chicago & Northwestern railway is one of the most expensive pieces of railway building in this section of the country. The roadway courses for miles through a rich farming country. In some of the districts the railway company paid as high as $50 per acre for the right of way.

Heavy Traffic Soon.

There will be a heavy traffic on the branch as soon as it is operative, especially during the winter months when large shipments of coal are sent from the Illinois mines to the northwest.

PLATE GLASS BRINGS GEORGE MUCH GRIEF

MR. ASCHENBRENNER MEETING WITH BAD LUCK IN CON-STRUCTION OF NEW BUILD-

Misfortune is apparently the lot of George Aschenbrenner, at least he is meeting with bad luck in the construction of his new building. He thought that when all of the plate glass for the new building was broken in a railroad accident about two weeks ago that his hard luck had reached its end. And Fortune seemed to smile on Mr. A., when yesterday new glass was received in a rush shipment. But Blitz celebrated too soon, for after safely putting the big glass in the east store room, the workmen cracked the plate glass for Mr. Aschenbrenner's store as they were setting it.

PENSION AGENTS PAY LAST MONEY

CHARLES BENT RETIRES FROM PENSION OFFICE RESULT OF NEW LAW.

As a result of the working of the new law, Charles Bent of Morrison, who has been pension agent for the past four or five years, will retire when the pensions of the present quarter are paid. A dispatch from Chicago says:

Final Distribution.

The United States pension agent in Chicago and his seventeen colleagues located in cities all over the United States are now making their final disbursements.

A bill signed by President Taft on May 11 legislates the various pension agents out of office and provides for the payment of all pensions from Washington after Jan. 31, 1913.

"J. L. Davenport, commissioner of pensions at Washington, will be in full charge at the capital. A disbursing agent will be appointed by the president. Employees of the various pension agencies throughout the country will be given employment in the pension department at Washington if they wish.

Work Done at Washington.

"Hereafter all checks will be mailed from Washington and vouchers will be dispensed with. Pension agents predict that the concentration of the work at Washington will require a larger clerical force than at present because of changes in the pension laws due to the act of May 11. This act nearly doubles the work.

"Increases in pensions begin under this act with the filing of applications and this involves fractions of a dollar. Previously no fractions had been involved. Pensioners may be seriously discommoded by the new plan. Many of them are aged and it will be difficult for them to get used to the new arrangement.

"Postmasters will not forward letters containing pension checks. They will be mailed from Washington after Jan. 31 to the last address of the pensioner. If he has moved they will be returned to Washington.

"All pension agents have been ordered to ship to Washington everything that can be dispensed with and to ask for bids on other furniture. These bids will be forwarded to Washington for approval."

MISSING BUFFALO BOY MURDERED AND BURIED

POSTAL CARD TELLS AUTHORI-TIES WHERE TO FIND BODY
OF 7-YEAR-OLD CHILD

Buffalo, N. Y.—What is expected to prove one of the most interesting murders in the history of Buffalo was uncovered this afternoon, when the body of 7-year-old Joseph Josephus was dug out of a vault at Lackawanna, a suburb. The boy has been missing since October 12. It was believed that he had been kidnapped. His father, George Josephus, a Lackawanna grocer offered a reward of $1,000 for the recovery of his boy, but no trace of him could be found although the police and private detectives have conducted a search.

Postcard Leads to Discovery
Yesterday the father received an unsigned postal card saying that the boy had been murdered and his body hidden in the vault. The body was found as the card had said it would be.

The card was postmarked Chicago and the writing was in a cramped hand with every indication that an attempt had been made to disguise it. The police have communicated with the Chicago police and also with the postal authorities there.

FOG DOESN'T RESPECT KINGS

How the Late Edward VII. Walked to Buckingham Palace by Light of Torches.

London.—Recently the king had the experience of driving home from the theater with torchbearers tramping in front. The incident recalls the most curious sight in a pretty varied London life.

Groping down St. James street early one foggy night about the middle of King Edward's reign, I was surprised, writes a correspondent, by a great glare of torches, and there emerged silently from the fog a number of men, like footmen, bearing torches, and behind them a group of gentlemen in cloaks surrounding some one walking heavily in the middle, and another body of torchbearers brought up the rear.

The personage in the middle was revealed by the torches as King Edward and the party moved slowly and silently down the street along the Mall to Buckingham palace. The king had been dining with Mrs. George Keppel in Portman square. It was a curious sight to see and made one think of the London of Charles II.

FOR ROAD BETTERMENT

American Association of Highway Improvement Meets.

Congress Opened Today in Richmond, Va.—Prominent Men and Noted Automobillists Present.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—Nearly every good road association in the United States and Canada is represented in the first road congress of the American Association for Highway Improvement which opened here today. Among the delegates are also many legislators, highway engineers and manufacturers of road machinery. The congress will be in session the rest of the week.

The delegates were welcomed by United States Senators Swanson and Martin of Virginia. Both of these legislators made a strong plea for better roads, quoting from President Taft's statement in accepting an honorary membership in the organization. At that time the president said that no other movement in the country today promises such large returns for the money invested.

Other prominent men who have accepted invitations to address the convention are Gen. T. Coleman Dupont, who is financing a $3,000,000 boulevard across the state of Delaware; Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania; Logan Waller Page, director of the government office of good roads; W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central line, and J. E. Penypacker, secretary of the American Association for Highway Improvement.

A large number of automobilists were also present today. For the most part the men were members of the Touring Club of America and its subsidiary organizations. They formed the larger part of the delegates who have come to this city to urge the building of a "coast to coast" highway.

QUAKE HITS MEXICO CITY

Small Houses Razed and Pavements Damaged by the Shock.

Mexico City, Nov. 20.—A severe earthquake occurred here. The movement was oscillatory and passed from north to south. It lasted more than three minutes. Many brick walls and a few poorly constructed small houses were thrown down. The street pavements buckled and several water mains were broken. According to the police, the only casualty was that of a laborer, who, following the custom among the lower classes of dropping to their knees in prayer, knelt on the street car track in front of a moving suburban train and was crushed to death. Other reports indicate a death list twelve or fifteen, in widely separated districts.

X. F. Gehant and Charles Hey left Tuesday morning for a short visit in Minnesota.

CRUSADE ON BIRDS' BEHALF

Radical Measure to Be Introduced in the English Parliament—Protection of Feathered Tribe.

London.—A new crusade against the killing of birds in order to supply feathers for millinery is in progress here, and a bill is soon to be introduced in parliament which, if it becomes law, will prevent many of the cruelest of the practices which result from the demand for feathers.

Lady Brooke, Rance of Sarawak, presided at a lecture in support of the plumage bill for the protection of wild birds, at the Whitehall rooms. She said she thought that women had a tremendous part to play in advising the making of laws against the wearing of feathers. It was entirely women's part to do this, because it was for women that the birds were killed, and women wore the feathers.

James Buckland lectured on "The Value of Wild Bird Life to the Empire." He said that the feathers used in millinery were the "wedding garments of the birds." To be of any value in millinery the feathers must be taken before the birds attempted to rear their young. The prohibition to export plumage from India and Australia had been rendered abortive by the illicit trade in feathers, and Great Britain was the receiver of the stolen goods. If the truth could be told about the Calcutta custom house in relation to certain persons in London the public conscience would be shocked by the extent of the smuggling of feathers. With the passing of the plumage bill this trade would be stopped at once.

George Greenwood, M. P., proposed and Captain Talbot seconded a resolution strongly appealing to the government to grant facilities for placing the plumage bill on the statute book. The resolution was carried.

ELECTRIC WIRES IN HIS BED

Sea Captain Believed and Fired a Volley to Awaken Citizens in GcNiam Hotel.

New York.—Charles Hooser, a retired sea captain, blazed away with a rifle and revolver from his window in the Astoria. Neighbors called Policeman Mindheim, who made his way cautiously to Hooser's door. The captain confronted him, with the revolver and rifle ready for action, a grizzled, wild-eyed giant.

"Oh, you've come at last, have you?" he said. "I've been trying to attract a policeman for fifteen minutes. Someone has put a lot of electric wires and batteries in my bed and I want you to take them out. And I want you to arrest whoever put them there."

Mindheim took the captain before Magistrate Leach, in Long Island city police court, who held him in $500 bail for examination. The captain owns the house in which he lives and other realty in the neighborhood.

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

SWEETENS YOUR STOMACH, CLEARS YOUR HEAD AND THOROUGHLY CLEANSSES YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS OF SOUR BILE, FOUL GASES AND CLOGGED-UP WASTE

All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Isn't it foolish too to be distressed when there is such a pleasant way to overcome it?

Give your inactive liver and ten yards of waste-clogged bowels a thorough cleansing this time. Put an end to constipation. Take a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs tonight sure and just see for yourself by morning, how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged up waste matter is moved out and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness.

You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it can not injure.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

Our School Notes

Squeedunk School—Dere Idiot After several months of vacation, I have the honor to resume my interesting contributions to your collection of mush. Schools is going all right at the present writing, although several of our companions, of last year has had to get to work due to the high cost of education. Some of the kids was hoping that a case of scarlet ever would break out in our midst so we could get a week off; but no such good luck happened.

Tommy Higgins made the teacher awful mad this week. He had been paying too much attention to Mary Purdy, and was neglecting his lessons. So teacher finally got him up to the desk and told him if didn't get down to work he wouldn't pass with the pupils at the end of the year. "You must study harder," she said, "or you won't pass. How would you like to stay back in this class another year and have little Mary go ahead of you?"

And then Tommy made the teacher awful mad. He said: "Aw! I guess there'll be other little Marys around here next year."

Teacher made all the kids git vaccinated last week, and little Willie Smith, who just moved here from Sterling, come to school with a ribbon around the arm he had been scratched on, and it said "vaccinated" on it. I told him to put the ribbon on his other arm, but he wanted to know why he should put it around the other arm which was not vaccinated. I told him if he knew the kids in our school as well as I did he would know why. However he had to receive his painful lesson, before he adopted my advice.

"No?" retorted the detective. "How truly unfortunate! Surely you are mistaken, madam; surely you recall what happened in Paris? It can't be you've forgotten how you obtained possession of the Missioner necklace—the one with the Maharane diamond, you know?"

She clung to silence as to a rock of refuge. Britz, still rocking lightly on his heels, raised a finger warningly and looked at her with that same sarcastic smile.

"You know as well as I do, Mrs. Delaroché," he went on, "that Curtis Griswold didn't steal the Maharane necklace. Whatever other crimes are upon him, he is guiltless of that—in act, at any rate."

The woman kept her eyes on the floor, her face partly turned away. All the others stared at Britz in amazement, not excepting the Chief of the Detective Bureau.

"Let's run through the pages of history, Mrs. Delaroché," continued the Lieutenant. "Personal history, of course—the history of clever little Miss Vincent, one of the brightest young women in Paris. You remember her when she was an art student there, getting along as well as she could on a New England income in the Latin Quarter. A bright, clever little girl she was, to be sure, and it was too bad she had such a hard struggle to realize her artistic dreams!"

All his hearers listened attentively. Mrs. Delaroché, in spite of resolute efforts to appear indifferent, full as 'althuthly as the others.

Prince Kananda moved forward until he stood within several feet of Mrs. Delaroché. She turned her head slightly and saw him. A glance of mutual recognition passed between them, but so quickly that it was unobserved by the others. The Prince eyed her steadily, with malignant gaze, as of a man who has been tricked. A wild fear leaped into her eyes and she moved away, edging closer to Britz.

"It isn't to be wondered at," said Britz sympathetically, "when you recall the many hardships Miss Vincent endured—when you remember on how many mornings she had to trudge to her copying work in the Louvre without even the poor consolation of a French breakfast, that she permitted a young Hindu gentleman to spend a little money upon her. It wasn't exactly in line with New England conventionality, of course, but the aristocratic Easterner had been introduced to her formally enough, his behavior was always respectful, and she—well, she was very lonely and very blue and often very hungry."

Mrs. Delaroché bit her lip and turned on Britz a look of such resentment that Mrs. Missioner and Miss Holcomb shrank away a little.

"And it needn't astonish us," Britz continued, "that when the polished Oriental brought about her acquaintance with an American multi-millionaire she accepted friendly little courtesies from the rich man, even going so far as to dine with him in several of the luxurious cafes for which Paris is famous. The American was a man from her own country—a big, good-natured, whole-souled chap, thoroughly satisfied with his fortune and himself."

"Therefore, why shouldn't the lonely, starving Miss Vincent enjoy gay little dinners and, perhaps, gay little suppers with him? She was always chaperoned. By whom? By the Hindu, of course. Besides, the millionaire's wife knew there was a dash of romance in her husband that made him delight in these excursions into the realm of the unusual."

Mrs. Delaroché sat with those brilliant eyes of hers bent rigorously on the rug. The other women glanced at her curiously, Manning with suspicion, Kananda with a glitter in his eyes that seemed to command silence. But she did not look at the Prince.

"However," ran the detective's monologue, "you'll have to admit, Mrs. Delaroché, that it wasn't exactly grateful on Miss Vincent's part to listen to the Hindu when he offered her a large bribe to—shall we say, steal a certain rare and very beautiful diamond from the multi-millionaire."

Mrs. Delaroché's breath came in a series of soft gasps—almost in sobs. A rose film seemed to spread over her exquisite complexion.

The famous detective paused for a moment and looked accusingly at her. When he spoke, it was with finality. "Mrs. Delaroché, you were Miss Vincent," he said; "you were the impoverished girl artist of the Latin Quarter. You have been married since, and now you are a divorcee—but you were Miss Vincent."

She recovered her poise for a moment and gazed at him defiantly. Then her courage broke again, and she answered:

"It is true. How you have learned it I cannot guess, but—it is true."

Doris Missioner, despite the suggestion conveyed in the Lieutenant's revelations, gazed at Millicent Delaroché commiseratingly. Millicent's delicacy was more open.

"And now," Britz went on, "Mrs. Delaroché either stole those jewels in Paris or in New York. If they were stolen in Paris, the authorities of this city have no jurisdiction in the case.

On the other hand, we can prove the necklace was in her possession only a day or two ago, and if the crime was committed in this country, we will call in the District Attorney. He turned abruptly toward the woman. "Mrs. Delaroché," Britz said, "I do not believe Mrs. Missioner will call on the French authorities to act, if the crime was committed in their jurisdiction. If the jewels were taken here, Mrs. Missioner will have no choice in the matter."

She seized at the bait. Turning her flashing eyes on the detective, she burst forth:

"The jewels were stolen in Paris."

A tense silence was broken by Britz.

"You'll have to show me," he snapped. "It's your last chance to tell the truth."

"I stole the collarette from Mr. Missioner," she admitted. "It was shortly before his death, a long time ago. The plot had all been laid. Griswold and Prince Kananda got me to do it. I met Griswold through Mr. Missioner. He made love to me, made me believe he wanted to marry me. Then, one day, he proposed the plan to steal the jewels. It almost made me laugh, for I was already trying to get them for the Prince. His plan was to have me induce Mr. Missioner to let me wear them one night and disappear with the collarette about my throat. I had agreed to do this, when Griswold—he cast a withering look at the clubman—"brought me the substitute. He didn't know, of course, that I was in the pay of the Prince, and I didn't inform him of it. Well, one night Mr. Missioner, after much urging on my part, took the collarette from his wife's jewel box and let me wear it at a little supper party. It was then I made the substitution."

"What did you do with the real necklace?" Manning interjected.

"I kept it," Mrs. Delaroché returned with a bland smile. "I informed the Prince that I had changed my mind about committing the robbery, and I told Mr. Griswold that I had been unable to make the substitution."

"But the paste jewels he had given you—what did you tell him in regard to them?" Britz asked.

"I simply told him I had lost them," she replied. "The fact of the matter is, I fooled both the Prince and Mr. Griswold. Of course, when Mrs. Missioner discovered the robbery, Mr. Griswold guessed what I had done, and since then he has been urging me to turn the real jewels over to him. But I was determined not to let him have them until our marriage, she added in a voice laden with the vindictiveness she felt."

The semicircle of listeners contracted until Mrs. Missioner, Miss Holcomb, Sands, and Fitch were close to Britz. The detective, turning to the others, said: "I have had the good fortune to recover the Maharane diamond for you, Mrs. Missioner, and it remains only to trace the other jewels of the necklace. I dare say Prince Kananda can tell us where they are."

"As I told you over the telephone, Lieutenant Britz," Mrs. Missioner answered, "I have recovered my jewels."

"All?" asked the detective, slightly astonished.

"All," replied the widow. "Moreover, I do not care to prosecute anyone connected with their disappearance."

"Not the Hindus who were responsible for their second disappearance—is it possible you do not wish them to be punished?" Britz expostulated.

"I do not," said Mrs. Missioner quietly. "I understand their connection with the mystery thoroughly. In spite of the drastic methods they pursued, I do not blame them. They did not seek the lesser stones of the necklace. In fact, those gems were recovered."

Five Milwaukee Alienists Will Report to Court on Would-Be Assassin—Verdict is Unanimous.

Milwaukee, Nov. 20.—A commission of five alienists who examined into the mental condition of John Schrank, who shot Theodore Roosevelt, have reported to Judge Backus finding Schrank insane.

Decision of the doctors was unanimous and means that Schrank cannot be tried for the attempted murder of Colonel Roosevelt, but will be committed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh.

Schrank probably will remain in the Oshkosh asylum for the rest of his life, as he cannot be released unless it is shown that he is completely cured and will not be subject again to an attack like the one that caused him to attempt the life of the former president on the night of October 14.

The commission of alienists finished its work and its report, which will be made to the court some time this week, is being dictated by Dr. Richard Dewey, chairman, assisted by the other four doctors on the commission.

Later Judge Backus denied that the commission had finished its work and said: "The commission is continuing the examination of Schrank in my chambers. If any member has given out advance information to the effect that Schrank has been held insane I shall adjudge him in contempt of court."

BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN

Passengers on C., M. & St. P. Face Guns and Surrender Cash.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Thrilling stories of a midnight train robbery were told here by passengers on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway's Southwest Limited, which was held up by two bandits. The daring robbers boarded the train at Mystic and, after robbing a number of the passengers at the points of revolvers, held them prisoners until the train entered the station at Ottumwa, when they dropped off and fled into the night.

The loot amounted to nearly $350. The persons robbed were Andrew Young and J. G. Zook of Kansas City, W. F. Davis, the Pullman car conductor, and Albert Robinson, the colored porter.

L. E. Morris of Warren, Ill., was in Dixon yesterday visiting his son Dr. F. E. Morris.

Permitting Her Eyes to Linger a Moment on Its Blazing Splendor.

turned to me this morning by one of the Orientals—a man of scholarly attainment and high character, whom I met in the East. These devotees—fanatics, if you will—have braved death and imprisonment to recover a jewel which I take it is precious in their eyes as was the Holy Grail to the Crusaders. It is a question not merely of religion, but of extreme piety with them. Under such circumstances I cannot consent to appear against them, nor to countenance any attempt to punish them. Besides, there was a mistake in the acquisition of the Maharane diamond. It belongs to these men of the East. They are free to take it. I surrender all claim upon it."

With an air of unmistakable respect Britz turned toward the widow.

"In the eyes of the law," he said, extending the big Maharane, "this stone is yours. You may do with it as you choose."

Mrs. Missioner accepted the stone, permitting her eyes to linger a moment on its blazing splendor. Then she wheeled abruptly and passed the diamond to the Prince.

"It is yours," she said. "Take it." Kananda's eager fingers closed on the gem.

"Mrs. Missioner has restored your property," Britz said, turning to the Oriental, "and I dare say the Chief will agree with me that it is not necessary for us to take your case far as the District Attorney's office. You and your fellow countrymen are at liberty to go. I advise you to go quickly before I get to thinking too strongly about that little upside-down ride you gave me in Riverside drive. I have the honor to wish your Royal Highness a very good morning!"

He made a mock obeisance as the Hindus, released from their shining steel bonds, filed silently out of the room.

"Miss Holcomb," said Britz, "Chief Manning will procure your release in just about the time it takes us to go from here to the court. You will be discharged at once. Yes, doctor, that will be a complete vindication of your fiancée. My best wishes for your happiness."

Britz then turned to Mrs. Missioner. "As for the prisoner, Griswold, Mrs. Missioner," he said, "it makes little difference to him that he was not arrested for the theft of your diamonds. The directors of the Irons Trust Company have a case against him strong enough to send him up the river for a long while. I trust, Mr. Sands, Britz added significantly, "that in your new-found happiness you will forget the momentary unpleasantness between us. After all, you see, I was acting in your interests."

The rare smile the millionaire flashed at the lieutenant was with a proprietary air he took Doris Missioner's hand in his as was eloquent an expression of friendly gratitude as anyone in society or "the Street" would expect of "Silent" Sands.

Sultan Will Be Permitted to Retain Constantinople and a Strip of Coast—Servians Took $10,000,000 After Capture of Monastir.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 20.—Bulgaria's conditions for the conclusion of peace, which were transmitted to Constantinople, contain some liberal concessions to the Turkish government.

The principal stipulation permits Turkey to retain Constantinople and a strip of coast territory in Europe. It is further proposed that Bulgaria forego further military entrance to the Turkish capital and avoid the crowning humiliation to the Turks.

Respecting Albania, it is said that the Balkan league probably will not object to that country remaining under the suzerainty of the sultan, and that the powers will acquiesce in this.

Vienna, May 20.—A telegram from Uskub states that 20,000 men were killed on both sides in the battle preceding the capture of Monastir. The Servians took $10,000,000 in booty.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—A telegram to the Tags Zeitung states that M. Pachitch, the Serbian premier, has announced officially that Serbian troops are marching on the Adriatic ports. When these have been occupied Serbia will answer Austria.

London, Nov. 20.—The nations of the Balkan confederacy, satiated with victory, signified their willingness to treat for terms of peace at the request of the vanquished Turkish empire.

The luster of their success has been only slightly dimmed by their temporary failure to overcome the rallied Turkish army at the gates of Constantinople and enter the Ottoman capital.

Consent to Meeting. The reply sent to the dispatch of the grand vizier to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria says:

"The Bulgarian government, after agreeing with the allied cabinets of Serbia, Montenegro and Greece, informs the porte that plenipotentiaries have been appointed with instructions to arrange with the commanders-in-chief of the Turkish armies the conditions of an armistice and subsequently to proceed to the conclusion of peace."

Simultaneously with the dispatch to the grand vizier of their agreement to appoint peace plenipotentiaries the allied Balkan nations notified the European powers of the step they had taken and thanked them for their offer of mediation. They added that mediation was no longer necessary, as the porte had addressed itself directly to the Balkan states, who would now treat with Turkey without outside intervention.

Victors' Terms to Be Drastic. That the terms of the victors will be drastic is known, but the European powers are doing their utmost to make them less harsh than was at first mooted, without attempting to rob the Balkan confederacy of the fruits of its month's war.

With the jealous eyes of Russia on Constantinople, with the recrudescence of the Austro-Serbian difficulty on the other side of what hitherto has been known as European Turkey, and with Roumania inquiring what she may expect of the spoils, there seems to observers every inducement for the allied Balkan nations to keep their demands within moderate limits.

Austro-Serbian Row Grows. The occupation of Alessio by the combined Serbian and Montenegrin armies, giving them another foothold on the Adriatic sea, is considered in diplomatic circles likely to add fuel to the flames of the Austro-Serbian dispute, which has again blazed up in a critical way.

Emperor Francis Joseph is reported to have remarked:

"We are in favor of peace, but not peace at any price. We cannot stand everything."

The Austro-Hungarian cabinet has sent a sharp note to the Serbian government at Belgrade demanding a precise reply to all the questions at issue. The Zelt says the note was distinctly threatening in tone, and adds:

"Vigorous military measures will give emphasis to the diplomatic demand should Serbia's answer again be unsatisfactory."

Madero Crushing Mexican Revolt. Washington, Nov. 20.—That the revolt in Central Mexico is being slowly crushed by the power of the federal troops was apparent from consular and diplomatic dispatches to the state department.

Southern Banker Found Dead. Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 20.—H. S. Jones, a wealthy banker of McMinnville, Tenn., was found dead in bed in a hotel here. He was very prominent in financial circles in the south.

B. F. SHAW PRINTING CO.

The National Grange in session at Spokane has again declared that the farmers are not responsible for the high cost of living. The reports from the states generally represented that the farmer gets only from 30 to 40 per cent of what his products cost the consumer. From this we may infer that there is a great deal of painstaking care in handling the products of the farm and that there is a good many—evidently too many—who like to have a hand in the job. To divert some of the extra help from the work of distribution to the work of production seems to be a demand of the day. The grange has recommended co-operative marketing, but that plan has not yet made serious inroads on the old order. The road to the market is evidently still too long.

No presidential campaign in fifty years has left the people in greater good nature over the outcome. The readiness of each of the parties to help along the successful one gives assurance of a continuance of peace, order and prosperity. The cordial feeling between the outgoing and the incoming President is a fine example for all the people and a happy illustration of the ease with which governments are changed in the greatest of republics. With party feeling in abeyance, factions quieted and good will prevailing, there should be clear sailing ahead toward a material achievement, happiness and contentment.

THE SHORT BALLOT.

Following the election a number of the newspapers throughout the country, without regard to party affiliations, have been discussing the timely topic of a shorter ballot. The discussion of short ballot principals has come rapidly to the front in the past few years and it is doubtless only a question of time when many of these principals will be made effective.

It has been pointed out time and again by enthusiastic advocates of the short ballot that in the national election held every four years the supreme interest of the voter is centered in the head of the ticket and he is determined to express his preference in this matter whether or not he votes for candidates for other offices. This means a sacrifice of interest in the remainder of the ticket.

That this point is well taken there can be no doubt. The ballot at the election just passed was a prodigious affair. It can be said with truth that the average voter had little interest in voting for the numerous candidates other than those for presidential electors for governor, and possibly one or two other offices. If asked today to name all candidates for whom he voted last week probably not one voter in ten could do so. He would have no difficulty in telling whether he voted for Governor Deneen, Judge Dunne or Frank H. Funk for the reason that he was particularly interested in the contest or governorship, but it is very doubtful whether one Democrat in ten could name the candidates he voted for and the candidates who were elected for the office of secretary of state, attorney general, auditor and treasurer, not to mention the many minor offices.

The cardinal principal of the short ballot propaganda is that the people should vote only to fill those offices in which they take an interest and that all other offices should be filled by appointment of those officials for whom the people vote or by competition by examination on personal qualifications. For instance, among the state offices the governorship is practically the only one in which the people have a general interest. By the short ballot principal, the people would vote only for governor and possibly lieutenant governor and the other state offices would be filled by appointment of the governor. The objection has been made that this would be placing too much power in the hands of the executive. In reply to this it may be said that the people know for whom they are voting when they vote for governor and that it would be much better to trust this official to make appointments than for the people to vote aimlessly for candidates concerning whom they know nothing to fill offices in which they evince not the remotest interest.

Peoples Column—

Editor Telegraph:—The recent attempted assault by a tramp in our County brings to all good citizens' minds that we are confronted with a serious problem, that of the floating citizen, sometimes known by the name of "Hobo", "Weary Willie", etc., and what should be done to rid our community of this pest and keep him away.

It has been the practice in the past to try to keep these parties on the move, thus if a policeman was active enough he could keep these undertramps out of his territory and he was commended and the citizens satisfied, but other cities and towns becoming flooded with tramps, sought out the remedy and soon found out how their neighbor was free of them, thus they became active and sent them on, until now an officer no sooner sends one hobo out of town than another officer sends two in, thus the hobo problem to all officers working along this old system, becomes a wearisome grind, but so long as the tax payer is satisfied and the citizen does not complain too heartily it will be continued.

Now what is the result, employers are searching for laborers, never before has there been such a lack, thus in your own minds you know what class these tramps belong to, who are going from town to town, with not even a veiled attempt at seeking work; they are the criminals, the crooks, the thieves, the murderers, the outcasts, the parasites and each or any of us may be the next suffers, blotting out our whole future happiness from some act of one or more of these unhuman brutes.

Who is to blame for this danger? It is the citizens of this County, who in their ignorance or indifference, do not demand that extreme measures be taken with each and every one of these taken before they have a chance to do harm. These citizens should get out of their minds the "Happy Hooligan" ideas of a hobo, that have been forced on us from the columns of every comic issue and know him for what he is. The most miserable, cowardly, degraded, diseased and unhappy specimen of humanity is our common hobo, with no hope for the morrow and his only thought is of prey. And our taxpayer is also to blame; he says to the officer: "That's the way, send them on and save coats to the County or City."

Friends, don't blame the officials of District, County or Town for these pests being around; the blame is with you, with public opinion. There are laws, they will be enforced in the main as public opinion directs. If you are satisfied when the hobo is sent on to the next town, it will continue as it is; if you are satisfied that the Justice of the Peace gives a five dollar fine to an offending tramp (which means one day in jail), it will continue; if you are satisfied that a Judge gives a twenty day sentence for some grave crime committed by one of these, it will continue; if you are satisfied with letting your sheriff, states attorney, policemen, constables and all officers of the law go on without a word of advice or criticism from you, this same condition will continue.

Most of our crimes that have been committed in our County in the past four years (aside from those committed in the heat of anger) were committed by tramps, not always strange tramps either, for we have them in all our towns. Now is this to continue?

Such laws as we have, if enforced to the limit, will control. Thus by each doing what we should, we may prevent some worse calamity than has befallen us—Citizen.

The women of St. Louis appear to be sharply divided on the question of equal suffrage. The Suffragists have been holding rallies and making plenty of noise with the slogan "Votes for Missouri Women in 1914." Women opposed to the proposition, however, have organized to fight equal suffrage with Miss Helen B. Gooding in charge of the campaign. Miss Gooding says:

"The women feel that it is not right for a few women to put the responsibility of voting on all the women of Missouri and we are going to see that it is not done."

GUNMEN GUILTY
IN FIRST DEGREEJury Panel Declares They Were the Murderers of Gambler Rosenthal.

NOW FACE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Verdict Against "Gyp the Blood,"
"Lefty Louie," "Whitey" Lewis and
"Dago Frank" Cirofici Returned
After an Hour's Deliberation.

New York, Nov. 20.—"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Cirofici, the gunmen charged with the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, all were found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the supreme court here. The jury deliberated only an hour and ten minutes. The quick verdict came as a surprise to everybody. The jury in the case of Charles A. Becker, former police lieutenant, deliberated nearly seven hours before reaching a verdict. He is now in Sing Sing, sentenced to the electric chair for having instigated the murder.

Goff Remands the Prisoners.
Justice Goff remanded the prisoners until late today, when he will fix the day for pronouncing sentence. The entire proceedings in court after the jury came in occupied only seven minutes. The gunmen were brought in by four prison wardens and a uniformed police. They heard the verdict with faces unmoved, staring straight ahead. Enraged by their conviction, the four gangsters returned to the Tombs profanely denouncing Justice Goff and all others who were concerned in their trial. Their counsel at once served notice of an appeal.

Meanwhile a great crowd outside the criminal court building was attesting its approval of the verdict by cheering the departing jurors.

Sees End of Gun Rule in New York.
District Attorney Whitman, in a brief statement, congratulated the people of New York on the result of the trial, which he declared was a triumph for civilization and the beginning of the end of gun rule in New York.

Their agreement with the state fulfilled, Jack Rose, "Bridgey" Webber and Harry Vallon will be released from custody today or tomorrow. The indictment against William Shapiro, chauffeur of the murder car, whose testimony against the four defendants is declared to have decided the issue, will also be dismissed, and Sam Schepps will likewise be permitted to go free.

Jack Sullivan, last of the seven men indicted for the Rosenthal murder, will be placed on trial immediately following the trial of Charles H. Hyde, which began today.

Verdict Kept From Becker.
Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The warden of Sing Sing prison took extra precautions here to prevent news of the conviction of the four gunmen of the crime of shooting Herman Rosenthal from reaching Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, who is awaiting electrocution for the same crime, he having been convicted of ordering the murder.

Oil Magnates Will Not Be Held

Insufficient to Convict—Directs Papers Be Not Served.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Attorney General Wickham has directed that warrants be not served upon John D. Archbold, H. C. Folger, Jr., and W. C. Teagle of the Standard Oil company as a result of their indictment at Dallas, Tex., last August, in connection with the case against the Magnolia Petroleum company.

The attorney general states that the evidence in possession of the government at present is insufficient to sustain the indictment of these officials and justify removal proceedings. The United States attorney at Dallas has been summoned to Washington for a conference.

Charles G. Morrison of Chicago, who was associated with Frank B. Kellogg in the prosecution that ended in the dissolution of the Standard Oil company, has been engaged to conduct the pending investigation of the oil industry to ascertain whether the decree of dissolution has been violated. The situation in Texas will be considered by Mr. Morrison in his general investigation.

UNION LEADERS LOSE BONDSMENSmythe and Ray, on Trial As Bomb Conspirators,
Put in Jail.

PEORIA EXPLOSIONS ARE TOLD

Testimony in Court at Indianapolis
Describes the War on Nonunion Builders in the State of Illinois
—Relate Threats by Hockin.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—Edward Smythe and James E. Ray of Peoria, Ill., two of the forty-five defendants in the dynamite conspiracy trial, were placed in jail here because their bondsmen withdrew the security on which the men had been at liberty.

At the opening of court attorneys for the bondsmen announced that they would surrender the prisoners, who then were placed in the custody of the United States marshal. The reason for the withdrawal of the bonds was not given.

Named by Ortie E. McManigal.
Smythe, who is superintendent of construction of the City of Peoria foundry, was secretary-treasurer of a local iron workers' union. In Ortie E. McManigal's confession he frequently was mentioned as having assisted the dynamiter in causing explosions at Peoria. In September, 1910, McManigal said, Smythe helped him put cans of nitroglycerin near jobs that were blown up and then went to a theater so he (Smythe) might have sent checks to prove an alibi.

In letters quoted by the government Smythe was charged with writing to J. J. McNamara about "a visit of Halley's comet to Peoria."

Ray, former president of a Peoria union, seldom has been mentioned since the trial began.

Smythe and Ray later were brought into court in custody. Efforts were made by the defense to obtain new bondsmen.

Tells of Threat by Hockin.

Testimony was given concerning explosions at Peoria. Richard H. Johnson, superintendent of a company which constructed a bridge at Peoria, said that in 1910 Smythe, Ray and Herbert S. Hockin solicited him to put union men on the job and Hockin added: "There will be something doing if you don't."

Nonunion men were put to work, said the witness, and the first explosion occurred June 4 that year. Three months later the plant of the constructor was blown up. It was this job that McManigal said he blew up with Smythe's aid. One can of nitroglycerin lay by McManigal failed to explode. Through this clue, Johnson said, he traced the purchase of the explosive to Portland, Ind., and thus put detectives on the trail of the dynamiters in September, 1910, a month before the loss of life at Los Angeles, and six months before any arrests were made.

HOMESICK MAN SUICIDES

Italian Chorus Singer of Boston Opera Company Shoots Self to Death.

Boston, Nov. 20.—Homesickness and melancholia took such a possession of Paul Anselmi, one of the bass singers of the chorus of the Boston opera company, that he committed suicide. He was found shot in the forehead at his lodgings, at 235 North Ampton street. He was hurried to the Grace hospital, where he died. The revolver with which Anselmi killed himself was found by his side when he was discovered. A letter addressed to his wife at Palermo, Italy, was also found close at hand.

HOLDEN LEAVES IOWA COLLEGE

The "Corn Man" Joins I H C Service Bureau.

TO HELP PUSH WORK FORWARD

Co-Operation Movement for Larger Crops, Better Roads, More Prosperous People and a Better Nation.

This marks the beginning of a new and greater business service. It is a co-operative movement for larger crops, better roads, happier homes, more prosperous people, and a richer and better nation. That is to say, the I H C Service Bureau proposes to help do for all the states and for Canada what Holden has done for Iowa.

After considering many offers, and after an investigation of the company and its works, Professor Perry G. Holden has entered the service of the I H C Service Bureau at Chicago.

Professor Holden is known wherever real agriculture is known. His whole life is one of service. He originated the idea of carrying information direct to farmers. He is the father of the demonstration train, short school courses, the corn show, county demonstration farms, and the National Corn Exposition. As head of the extension department of Iowa State College of Agriculture he did a work which, Senator Cummins says, up to the present time has increased the wealth of Iowa $30,000,000.

The object of the I H C Service Bureau is the promotion of agricultural education, and a co-operation which will tend to raise the whole tone of commercial, industrial and farm life. Since agriculture is the basis of prosperity and progress, naturally farm problems claim first attention. The aim is higher efficiency, both on and off the farm.

To do a big work a big organization is necessary. Not only the business, but the perfection of the International organization as well appealed to Professor Holden. The big general agencies, scattered all over the United States and Canada; the salesmen, travelers and expert machine men; the 40,000 dealers—every one, so far as possible, is to be made an apostle of better farming.

For years the International Harvester Company has realized the importance of service. It has spent millions of dollars in the perfection of labor-saving machines, and now the company is going in for direct service—direct to the farmers, and direct to the farmers' children, that the men and women of tomorrow may be more capable and so more prosperous than the men and women of today.

It is no longer a theory that if we are to get the most out of life we must raise more per acre. "Intensive farming" is in the air. It is the battle cry of peace and plenty. But raising more is the result of mind not muscle. We must know. And not only that, we must know we know, and know why we know. We must know good seed from bad, right cultivation from wrong, and the whys and wherefores of climates, soils, fruits, cattle, horses, poultry, and so forth.

For these things the bureau was established. But the bureau and Professor Holden see more than an average increase of a few bushels. They see a time coming when farmers will raise twice as many bushels of corn, wheat and oats to the acre, and like yields of all other kinds of farm products. They see a time when farmers and farmers' wives and their children will think more and work less. Every bushel raised means just that much profit, and the profits of the farm promote commerce and industry.

After a period of good work in Michigan agricultural college, better work at Illinois, and a great work at Iowa, Professor Holden now enters upon a world's work. While in future Professor Holden will designate Chicago as home, he says he is not leaving Iowa—he is merely carrying Iowa to the rest of the world.

COLT RATION
A Missouri correspondent writes: "What is a good ration to feed to colts? I have two extra nice ones. I have corn, oats and timothy hay. I am willing to grind the grain and to mill feed. Is alfalfa meal better than timothy? Oats are worth 45 cents a bushel, corn 65 cents a bushel, timothy hay $12.50 a ton, and alfalfa meal $24 per ton. A man wants me to keep his colt and take care of it the same as I would my own. What would be a fair price for both?"

An excellent grain mixture for these colts would be: Corn, six parts; oats, our parts; bran, four parts; and cottonseed meal or oil meal, two parts. Alfalfa meal might be used instead of the bran, but where bran may be had at the same price ton for ton, we would slightly prefer it. We do not believe that it would pay to grind the corn or the oats; in fact, we would prefer to feed the corn on the ear rather than to shell it or grind it.

We can not advise our correspondent definitely as to what to charge for keeping another colt. We suggest that he estimate the total cost of feed, the cost of labor, and add twenty or thirty cents a month to cover the cost of shelter.—Wallace Farmer.

Some Thought Now for the Feed and Housing of the Chickens.

Now, in particular is it time to begin to fix up feeds for the chickens and see that they will be well and comfortably housed during the winter months. Make sure there are no drafts in the hen house, but have plenty of fresh air, all from one side. The fowls like most all common vegetables, and especially clover or alfalfa hay. It is a good idea to pack the hay into wire baskets, so that the chickens may get all the leaves without waste. Loose hay does not give enough resistance.

The chickens like milk, either sweet or sour, but will drink more if given either uniformly sweet or uniformly sour, instead of sweet one day and sour the next, etc. When the milk is separated after souring the way is good to wet the mush.

If the hens lay during the winter months, it means considerable to the housewife who buys her groceries and many little comforts with her egg money.

Big Corn Yields in Wisconsin.

Big yields of crops and wheat are reported from northern Wisconsin. Seventy-three bushels of corn per acre was raised on the agronomy of the University of Wisconsin at Spooner, in Washburn county, this year. This was a strain of the pure bred Wisconsin No. 8 corn which has been especially selected for seven years for northern Wisconsin by Prof. E. J. Delwiche of the branch station of the college of agriculture at Spooner. Sixty-nine bushels of shelled corn per acre was raised on the rest of the field. This corn was fully matured and a large proportion of it was saved for seed. A large part of this will be distributed to farmers in various sections of northern Wisconsin for cooperative experiments.

Women Who Successfully Farm.

It would open the eyes of some of our girls who think that the farm is an old foggy place, if they would attend a meeting like that of the Farm Women's congress in Canada, says writer in the Farm, Stock and Home. Hundreds of brainy women were there who are making a profession of homemaking. There was another class of women present and they are indeed in a class by themselves. These are the women who run farms, themselves. That is women who have no man who is the family bread winner. In the state of Missouri fourteen women who personally manage their own farms have organized a club. They sent to the International congress as their representative Miss Griffith.

After Miss Griffith graduated from college several years ago, she chose a business career and successfully filled a very responsible position in a large mercantile house. The father died and left a fine, prosperous farm of 1,500 acres with no one to run it. The family consisted entirely of daughters. This one daughter had always been her father's companion and helper. She assumed control and successfully manages the farm. Hired help and tenants are under her personal supervision at all times. Business training and farm knowledge acquired by years of association with her father, a real live "know now" farmer, have fitted her as few boys are fitted to make every acre of land pay and no part of it depreciate in value.

HEADACHE A HANDICAP IN ANY RACE

You can't win any race—foot, horseback, in auto, engine car or aeroplane if your head aches. Headache is a sign of physical deficiency.

HICKS' CAPUDINE

WINNEBAGO COUNTY FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT.

Winnebago is the third county in Illinois to form a Soil Improvement Association. At a recent meeting of farmers and business men held in Rockford it was decided to form such an association and employ an agricultural expert to discover the needs of the soil, and to point out the remedy, as well as to give scientific advice to the farmers on all subjects pertaining to farming.

This movement is growing very rapidly in Illinois. DeKalb county has the distinction of being the first. Thier association was formed last spring, and their expert began work in June. The farmers of the county are delighted with what has already been accomplished. Car loads of fertilizer of various kinds each kind suited for the particular needs of the farm where it is to be placed, are now being shipped in, and the farmers are preparing to put many scientific principals into practice next year.

Kankakee county organized soon after DeKalb, and secured an expert who began his work in July. And now Winnebago has taken up the good work. The counties that organize first will get the best of the available agricultural experts, and men well qualified in this line are hard to find.

Why should not Bureau be the next county to secure the advantages of such an organization.

'CASCARETS' SURELY STRAIGHTEN YOU OUT

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning

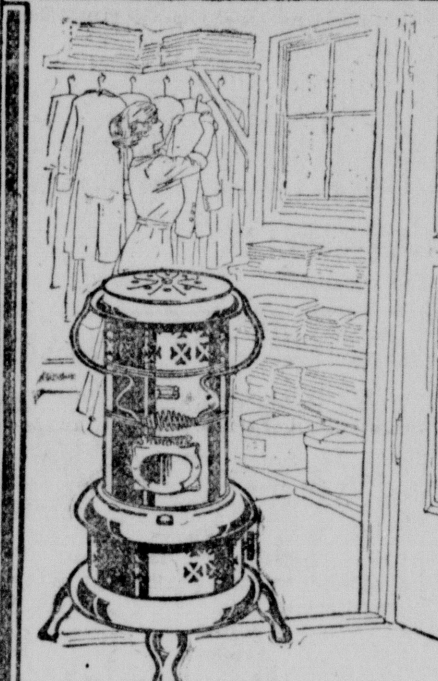

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these all-meaty or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil, or Purgative Wafers.

Stop having a bowel wash day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach, or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong to every household. Children just love to take them.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Red and Irritated. Pimples Festered. Itched and Burned. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment About 3 Weeks. Was Completely Cured.

1613 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill.—"My face was very red and irritated and was covered with pimples. The pimples festered and came to a head. They itched and burned and when I scratched them became sore. I tried soaps and they would not stop the itching and burning of the skin. This lasted for a month or more. At last I tried Cuticura Ointment and Soap. They took out the burning and itching of the skin soothing it very much and giving the relief that the others failed to give me. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment about three weeks and was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Clara Mueller, Mar. 10, 1912.

BURNING AND ITCHING

Day and Night. Eczema in Form of Rash. Moores Hill, Ind.—"My little daughter had a burning and itching sensation day and night. The eczema was in the form of a rash. It began first in patches on her face and under her arms, and then on her hands. We were very much alarmed about her as it was spreading so rapidly. We used Cuticura Soap and Ointment about one month and they cured my little daughter of eczema. Her skin is as smooth as could be and she is in fine health." (Signed) Mrs. Lizzie Roof, Jan. 27, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Be tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

WAR ON SHERMAN ACT

A. F. OF L. DECLARES LAW MUST BE AMENDED OR REPEALED.

Socialists and Trade Unionists Have Warm Debate While Discussing Danbury Hatters' Case.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 20—"The Sherman anti-trust law must be either amended or repealed," was adopted as the watchword of the American Federation of Labor.

The whole day was given up to a discussion of the Danbury hatters' case in an effort to find some plan by which labor organizations could be protected from prosecutions like that of the hatters. The debate drifted into a controversy between the Socialists and trade unionists and the former were remorselessly denounced.

President Gompers scored the principles of the Socialists. He said that John Mitchell had been offered the candidacy for vice-president on a certain ticket at the last election, but declined.

"Would you have voted for John Mitchell if he had been a candidate?" Gompers asked the Socialists.

"No, no," shouted a score of them. Max Hayes proposed that in order to secure the amendment or repeal of the Sherman anti-trust act that local unions in every city in the land call mass meetings and tell the general public why organized labor is opposed to that law. Then speaker after speaker declared that the only way to get anything from congress was to join a class conscience political party and send men there who would do something for labor.

THIRD DEATH IN HOTEL RAID

Detective Allen Succumbs to Wounds Received During Attempt to Arrest Alleged Thieves.

New York, Nov. 20.—Death claimed a third victim of Monday night's desperate revolver battle in the Little Elmsmere hotel, in the Bronx, when a man and a woman, registered under the name of Vogel, were killed, standing off three detectives who had come to arrest them in connection with numerous jewel robberies from private houses.

Private Detective John Allen succumbed to his wounds in Lebanon hospital, without having regained consciousness. He had fought to the very last, striving to take his man prisoner, even when bullets were whizzing all about him. After he received his mortal wound he still tried to work his revolver.

AUTO BANDITS SECURE $1,300

$1,000 Is Taken in Saloon Robbery at Hamel and $300 More by Blowing the Post Office Safe
at Ferguson.

Hamel, Nov. 20.—Auto bandits got $1,300 in a saloon robbery at Hamel and $300 more by blowing the post office safe at Ferguson, St. Louis county. The two towns are about thirty miles apart by way of the bridges. The explosions aroused the citizens of Ferguson and they gave pursuit, but no one was near enough to get descriptions of the auto bandits. It is believed three men participated in the Ferguson robbery.

Finda Sweetheart After Nine Years.
Sterling, Nov. 20.—After a search of nine years over all parts of the country, Alma Lenhart found her sweetheart, John Spear, dying peniless and a county charge. He passed away without having recognized his former fiance and was buried at her expense. Nine years ago Miss Lenhart and Spear lived on adjoining farms near Mitchell, S. D. They became engaged, but shortly before the date set for the wedding Miss Lenhart quarreled with her lover, gave him back his ring and refused to see him again. He sold his property and left. Scarcely had he disappeared before Miss Lenhart's love returned, and being wealthy, she had searched the country for him. A newspaper clipping located him for her and she hurried to his side, only to find him delirious and dying.

Man Shot Dies; Plot Hinted.
Herrin, Nov. 20.—John McGill, shot at the home of his divorced wife, Mrs. Frank Rippey, by her present plot to do away with him by foul play is said to have been found on his person. State's Attorney Hartwell has a letter in his possession. It is alleged to have been written by Mrs.

Rippey to McGill inviting him to her home. Rippey is alleged to have sent three bullets into McGill's body just as the door was opened for him to enter.

Odd Fellows Meet at Peoria.
Peoria, Nov. 20.—Two thousand delegates representing the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the state, the grand encampment of that organization and the Rebekah assembly, the women's auxiliary, are now in this city. The sixty-third annual session of the grand encampment began in Shrine Temple. The twenty-eighth annual session of the Rebekah assembly opened in the Coliseum and a military ball followed the degree.

"Moss" Enright Wants Rehearing.
Springfield, Nov. 20.—Notice was filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court by the attorneys for Maurice Enright, better known as "Moss" Enright, that a petition for a rehearing would be filed in the case in which Enright was convicted of the murder of Vincent Altman in the bar of the Briggs house, Chicago, in the "labor sluggers" war, in which case Enright was sentenced to life imprisonment in Joliet penitentiary.

Women to Paint Fence.
Ottawa, Nov. 20.—When the Nichol Cemetery association at Marseilles, whose members are all women, learned that they could get no assistance from the men of Marseilles in the painting of the new iron fence at Nichol cemetery, it was decided that the women should do the work themselves. Miss Florence Bowers, a well-known society young woman,
volunteered to head a crew.

Killed by Brother on Anniversary.
Quincy, Nov. 20.—While celebrating his first wedding anniversary, Joseph Lymenstull of Quincy was accidently shot by his brother, Albert Lymenstull, while out hunting and lived but a few hours. A covey of quail was frightened from the grass and during the excitement the accident occurred.

Believe More Not Murdered.
Beadstown, Nov. 20.—Discrediting reports that he was attacked by robbers and thrown into the Illinois river the local authorities declare that William More of Chicago was drowned in shooting the dam at the La Grange docks. They assert the murder theory is improbable.

NEW IDEA IS PORTABLE CRIB

Capable of Being Conveyed From Room to Room, It Is Ideal for the Mother's Use.

Quite the latest thing in babyland is a crib designed and made for use out of doors, to wheel from room to room and especially constructed for easy transportation.

The crib is made of white enameled
wood, with foot and headboard of fine steel-wire netting, covered on the inside with a metal finish to prevent the baby from hurting his hands on any rough edges. The crib rests on four wheels, which enable it to be moved very easily. Its wire spring and its floss mattress may be raised to three different heights by means of screw eyes.

The entire crib comes apart and,
with wire spring and mattress, can be placed in a large canvas bag, which comes with it. Pockets in the bag are made for the wheels, so they cannot roll the mattress. In this manner the crib can be sent from place to place, and this easy way of packing will be found a wonderful convenience, as often hotels do not supply babies' cribs.

In the daytime the crib can be used as a "little nursery," in which the child can be placed with its rattles or toys. In this way it will be found a real comfort to the mother, as she may wheel the child into the room where she is busy and be able to watch it while attending to her household duties.
